HUNTED GUIDE CAPTURED BY GAME WARDEN

Frank Gott, Said to Have Killed Provincial Officer, Stopped by Bullets

REFUSES TO CHECK FLIGHT UNTIL SHOT

LILLOOET, Oct. 5 (CP).—Object of an intense manhunt since Monday, when he is alleged to have shot and killed Albert E. Farey, provincial game warden, Frank Gott, seventy-six-year-old trapper, guide and Great War veteran, was en route to Kamloops today in custody of British Columbia police officers after his capture today near Mocha, the scene of the shooting.

Discovered in the brush by a posse of armed settlers and police officers this morning, Gott attempted to escape. Failing in his effort, he was shot in the back by a call to give himself up he was shot twice in the leg by District Game Warden R. M. Robertson. Unable to escape, Gott is said to have attempted suicide by slashing his throat with a large knife, the weapon he was carrying.

TO BE CHARGED FORMALLY

Formal charge of murder will be laid immediately against Frank Gott for the alleged killing of Albert Edward Farey. It was announced yesterday by Colonel J. H. McMullin, of the British Columbia police, that Gott, wounded twice in the leg when he attempted to escape from a posse that sought him, was removed to Lillooet and later Kamloops for medical attention yesterday.

A double shock has attended the case for provincial officials. The victim of the alleged killing, Game Warden Farey, was a popular officer with a splendid war and peace-time record.

Gott himself is as widely known, serving with distinction overseas as a sniper, after enlisting for war service in 1915 while over fifty-eight years of age. He returned at the close of hostilities, and has guided more big game parties in British Columbia woods than any other man in the interior. Cabinet ministers and titled visitors have at times been his guests in this connection, his unerring knowledge of the country and his "nose" for big game proving a lasting attraction in this connection.

WILL CONFER ON LAND ANNUITIES

De Valera and Thomas to Reopen Negotiations on October 14

LONDON, Oct. 5 (CP).—President Eamon de Valera, of the Irish Free State, left for Dublin tonight after having agreed with Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, to make the controversy over unpaid land annuities the subject of negotiations to start on October 14.

OTHER MONIES INVOLVED

"We have agreed to adopt a suggestion that the question concerning Irish land annuities should be the subject of negotiations between the two governments."

"In the course of our conversations attention was called to the fact that other sums of money formerly paid to the United Kingdom were being withheld by the Irish Free State. It was agreed that these sums should be covered these sums also and that the discussions be begun in London if possible on October 14."

IN SUSPENSE ACCOUNT

Meantime it was said the Free State will continue to keep the disputed funds in a suspense account, where they were placed pending settlement of the controversy concerning them.

Today's conversations were said to have been marked by a greater degree of cordiality than had been shown in other conferences on Anglo-Irish disputes.

Suffers Great Hardship In Flight From Legion

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 5 (AP).—Robert Young, holder of five decorations for bravery in the French Foreign Legion, was admitted to a hospital here today after a harrowing flight from the Legion in a narrow boat.

Young, twenty-two years old and educated at Stanford University, California, said he had joined the Legion after a family quarrel in March, 1931.

The patient said he had undergone great privations during his service. He said he was in the disastrous troop train wreck near Tiemcen, Algeria, a few weeks ago and decided he could withstand no further privations. Young and an

Canadian Parliament Will Open Today

WITH the opening of Parliament set for today, members of the Commons and Senators have assembled at Ottawa ready for a fall session of at least six weeks' duration. The reply to the speech from the Throne will be made by Canada's youngest commoner, Captain P. C. Davies, M.P., of Athabasca, shown at the right above. Hon. George Black, Speaker of the Federal House, is seen at the left.

Extradition of Bagley Asked by B.C. Authorities

BRITISH Columbia has made formal application through State channels for the extradition of William Bagley, who escaped from Oakalla Jail while pending appeal from conviction and sentence in the Harrison Hot Springs safe robbery, Attorney-General Pooley said yesterday. The application has gone forward to the Dominion authorities for transmission to the British Consul at San Francisco. Irrespective of whether Bagley is tried in the South or not for other alleged offences, British Columbia will prefer its claim for his return.

B.C. APPLES MAY BENEFIT

London Retailers Elect to Handle Fruit on Quantity Basis

Change in retail distribution methods in Britain may react to the benefit of British Columbia apple growers, if action taken by a large London organization is followed generally by the trade, Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, said yesterday. The organization, which represents the London markets representative in England, advised the Department of Agriculture yesterday.

Heretofore apples have been sold on the English market by the pound, making large sizes unsuitable for the trade. It is now proposed that this method be extended by sales based on the dozen, or at the rate of a specific number for a shilling, on a quantity basis instead of by weight.

The Retail Fruiters' Association of London, an organization with very large retail ramifications in the great metropolis, has voted to adopt the new method, Mr. Coventry states. If this lead is followed generally in Britain it will have an immediate bearing on the quantity and price of apples British Columbia can place to advantage in this market.

Some appreciation of the change can be gleaned from the fact that large McIntosh Reds and other well-colored apples have sold on the London market in bulk at from $25 to $30 a ton, compared to from $10 to $15 a ton, by weight. A secondary benefit would come in the fact that at present large quantities of apples from British Columbia are unsold for the trade, while on a quantity basis the added size and fine color would tend their own appeal. Further details are being eagerly awaited in connection with the action of the London retail group.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

TORONTO, Oct. 5 (CP).—No change was reported tonight in the condition of Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell, Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario, who is seriously ill in hospital here.

YOUNG CADET GIVES VIVID ACCOUNT OF NEVADA'S WRECKING

James Thorsen, Seventeen-Year-Old Survivor of Ill-Fated Freighter, at Wheel When Crash Occurred—Was One of Three Washed Ashore After Lifeboat Capsized

STILL wearing a heavy bandage hiding a deep scalp wound S inflicted when his head came in contact with a jagged rock in the storm-tossed waters of the North Pacific, when the lifeboat in which he and fifteen others of his shipmates from the ill-fated freighter Nevada were leaving the abandoned ship turned over and left them all struggling for their lives in the sea, James Thorsen, of Portland, told yesterday in simple words the graphic story of the doomed ship's last hours.

Coalition Not at All Acceptable

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Oct. 5 (CP).—Proposals that a coalition government be formed in Ontario were disapproved of by Premier George S. Henry today. The result of a coalition, he said, would lead to chaos. Premier Henry spoke at the inauguration of the Eastern Ontario Liberal-Conservative Association.

The abandonment of party government was not acceptable to him, Premier Henry said, as it had always been his desire to lead an administration such as that now in office, backed by a strong and virile party.

BROADCASTING BOARD NAMED

Thomas Mather and Col. W. A. Steel to Serve with Hector Charlesworth

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 (CP).—The new Canadian radio broadcasting commission will be headed by Hector Charlesworth, Toronto editor and critic. Thomas Mather, Quebec journalist, will be vice-chairman. Lieutenant-Colonel W. A. Steel, Ottawa, director of radio research for the National Research Council, will be the third member of the body.

Official announcement of the personnel of the commission was made this evening. Appointment of the commissioners was made at a meeting of the Cabinet Council late today.

The emolument of the chairman will be $10,000 per year, Vice-Chairman Mather and Commissioner Steel will each receive an annual salary of $8,000.

POWERS OF COMMISSION

Establishment of the commission was authorized by legislation at the last session of Parliament. The bill was based on recommendations of a special committee of the House of Commons, with Hon. Raymond Morand (Conservative, Essex East) as chairman. All groups in the Commons were represented on the committee, whose report was unanimous. The commission is empowered to carry on the business of broadcasting in Canada and regulate and control broadcasting by other agencies.

Now at Madrid attending the world's radio conference, Lieutenant-Colonel Steel as an officer of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, has directed the radio development of the Department of National Defence. Since October 1 of last year he has served as director of radio research for the National Research Council.

Thomas Mather is a forestry engineer by profession and a journalist by choice. He is forty-one years old and prominent in Conservative circles of Quebec.

British Railwaymen Hint at Industrial Struggle in Winter

Strike Threatened in Resistance to Threat of General Wage Cut—Probable Reductions Announced After Conference in London

MELTON MOWBRAY, Eng., Oct. 5 (CP).—Hint that railwaymen in the United Kingdom might resist attempts to impose a general 10 per cent wage cut by striking was given here tonight by C. T. Cramp, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen.

Mr. Cramp said: "We are facing demands of further reductions in our wages and if I judge the situation, those demands will meet the sternest resistance possible, possibly to the extent of a great industrial struggle during the coming winter months."

Notification that further reductions in wages of railway employees in the United Kingdom would probably be forthcoming, was given last Friday after a conference between union and railway officials at London.

STATEMENT ISSUED

A statement issued after the conference said: "The present percentage deductions in railway wages will be replaced by a deduction of 10 per cent on all earnings, operating so that the minimum weekly wage will not be less than thirty-eight shillings (roughly $9)." The proposed further reduction would amount to a little more than an additional 5 per cent over deductions which have been in force since the Spring of 1931. Wages up to forty shillings (about $10) were then subjected to a cut of 2 1/2 per cent and wages exceeding that amount weekly were reduced by 5 per cent.

COLONIES OF DUCKS MAY MAKE INDUSTRY

WINNIPEG, Oct. 5 (CP).—The Industrial Development Board of Manitoba is trying to establish a new industry in Manitoba, and, if it does, it's going to be pretty soon for a lot of people.

The board is endeavoring to have established colonies of elder ducks to provide for the manufacture of quilts and pillows and other things that go to make life softer.

Loss Is Millions as Oregon Forest Fires Rage Over Big Area

Hundreds Left Homeless by Worst Outbreak in History of State

MARCH OF FLAMES CHECKED BY WEATHER

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5.—Stark and blackened desolation where there were green trees and grassy hills before the fire rode over the country, blotted the Western Oregon timber belt tonight as a premature dusk gathered under sullen billows of heavy smoke.

Homeless refugees by the hundreds, their houses and possessions destroyed by the greatest plague of forest fires the state has ever known, sought temporary shelter. A change in the wind, cooler weather, an increase in relative humidity and greater atmospheric moisture served today at east temporarily to halt the devastating march of columns and sheets of destroying fire.

But danger still was real. Hundreds of fire fighters stood steadfast on the fire lines, weary but desperate, battling flames and aiding refugees.

In Oregon flames were flaring in Lane, Washington, Coos and Clatsop Counties. Across the Columbia River in Washington, forest fires destroyed many homes and burned much timber in Clark, Cowlitz and Skamania Counties.

LOS IS HEAVY
The total loss to logging camps, lumber mills, railroads, towns and homes probably will exceed $3,000,000, forestry officials believe, this amount of property having been reduced to glowing coals within a three-day period.

Tales of terror and of suffering and of heroism came from the stricken areas. Whole families and entire communities have fled before the fires which have destroyed two towns and menaced many others.

SEATTLE, Oct. 5.—A pall of smoke hung over Western Washington today, thrown up by forest and brush fires in several different areas as the worst fire conditions of the year prevailed because of low humidity and northeast winds.

Only one fire, however, that in Clark County, was serious, with about eight farm homes having been burned together with some merchantable timber. The towns of Yacolt and Amboy were near the flames, but not endangered.

In addition, a fire of threatening proportions, if it is not stopped, was burning in a soft land near Mineral in North Central Lewis County, while a blaze in timber on the Snoqualmie Pass highway, east of North Bend, was under control.

GETS LIFE SENTENCE FOR SHOOTING MAYOR

BOWBELLS, N.D., Oct. 5 (AP).—Convicted of the fatal shooting of Mayor Keup, Columbus, N.D., a man in his insurance office in that community, Henry Frank, a seventeen-year-old farmer, was today sentenced to life imprisonment. The shooting took place on September 16.

Dealing with gold and platinum indications which caused a flurry at McConnell Creek this year, the Provincial Department of Mines has issued a bulletin prepared on the Omineca area by Douglas Lay, resident mining engineer. Released yesterday by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, the following summary of Mr. Lay's report is as follows:

"McConnell Creek was the scene of a small rush in the Spring of this year as a result of stories of a bonanza discovery of coarse gold on bedrock. Mr. Lay's report shows that true bedrock on the creek has never been reached, and the original story was highly over-colored and exaggerated. There is, however, an auriferous gravel run lying on a false clay bedrock which may prove to be of considerable importance. The gold is comparatively fine and the ground shallow down to the clay. Individual operators may in certain cases, even with small-scale methods, make wages. The main value is in gold, but a small platinum content also occurs."

VALUES CITED

"The conclusions by Mr. Lay as to the large yardage of gravel occurring on this creek and the values obtained where tested, indicate that the creek warrants thorough testing for a large-scale dredging operation. He says: "The arithmetic mean of seven-teen pan samples taken at widely separated points is $1.64 per cubic yard in total values: Gold, $1.22 per cubic yard; Platinum, $0.42 per cubic yard."

Four Missing as Freighter Sinks Without Warning

Fifteen Saved in Lifeboats Torn From Fastenings by Waves on Lake Erie—Captain Has Narrow Escape as Boat Pounds on Rocks on Way to Shore

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 5 (AP).—Coastguard boats searched the waters of Lake Erie tonight for traces of three men and a woman, believed drowned today when the John J. Boland, Jr., a Canadian lake freighter, foundered seven miles off Westfield in a storm.

GOLD TESTING IS SUGGESTED

McConnell Creek in Omineca District Subject of British Columbia Report

Survivors said the accident happened so quickly they were in the water before they realized it. They said the lifeboats, torn from their fastenings by the waves, remained afloat and the first men to reach them aided in pulling the remaining survivors from the water.

FOUNDED ON ROCKS

Captain Hammond told Dr. Carlton A. Hest in his office at Westfield, N.Y., that he and three others narrowly escaped death as their lifeboat was pounded against rocks on their way to shore.

"Our craft sank in less than four minutes," Captain Hammond said.

The four missing are: Miss Jean McInyre, assistant stewardess, Westland, Ont.; O. Keary, deckhand, of Hamilton, Ont.; H. Jobs, deckhand, St. Catharines, Ont.; S. Brooks, deckhand, Windsor, Ont.

EXILED ARCHBISHOP ARRIVES IN TEXAS

LAREDO, Tex., Oct. 5 (AP).—Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, Papal delegate expelled from Mexico, arrived here on a special train at 12:15 a.m. today.

The Archbishop was accompanied by two secret service men from Mexico City. His special train, which came by way of Monterey, had been delayed. He was taken to a local home for the night.

GIVE SUPPORT TO NO PARTY IN THE FUTURE

Prohibition Association Decides to Lend Aid to Only Dry Candidates

APPROVAL FOR NO TEMPERANCE POLICY

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—The British Columbia Prohibition Association will support only "dry" political candidates in the future regardless of party. This was determined after a prolonged debate Wednesday afternoon at the annual convention in First Baptist Church.

The delegates declined to endorse any of the temperance policies submitted by the existing political parties, which were presented by voice and manuscript before the assembly.

UNOFFICIAL APPROVAL

The question of organizing a prohibition party received little comment, but unofficial approval was accorded the suggestion for a provincial platform on beer and support of "dry" candidates in provincial elections.

"We shall be like a dog barking at the moon until we put one or more members in the Legislature who will have the courage to fight for temperance," said Rev. Elbert Paul. "We have been hankering long enough," he remarked in advocating that the prohibitionists vote for one man "they can depend upon."

In addressing the assembly on the prohibition political action in the next election, Walter Hamilton declared that any attempt to form a prohibition party at the present time "would destroy rather than advance efforts of the organization during the past years."

"We are not going to be bound by a party any longer," Rev. R. J. McInyre, organizing secretary, remarked. He declared that the Prohibition Association had not received a square deal from the two governments, Conservative or Liberal.

KEEPING WATCH ON M. J. INSULL

Chicago Officers Fly to Toronto, But Cannot Arrest Former Magnate

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 (AP).—Two officers bearing certified copies of the indictments charging Martin J. Insull with larceny and embezzlement of $847,000 flew to Toronto tonight with orders to keep their eyes on Insull.

They could not arrest him, and whether they would bring him back for trial was quite undecided tonight. Insull is a British citizen. Only Canadian officers could arrest him on Canadian soil, and the Governor of Illinois notified State's Attorney John A. Swanson he would sign no extradition warrant until certain that Cook County would assume the costs. The county board has voted down a $50,000 appropriation asked by the prosecutor, but Swanson still held hopes of loosening the county purse strings through public demand.

ORILLIA, Ont., Oct. 5 (CP).—The noncommittal suavity of Martin J. Insull remained unchanged tonight as he returned from a visit to Toronto, the object of his journey a secret except to himself and the lawyer he is believed to have interviewed.

Word that officials of Cook County, Illinois, were en route here by airplane provided with documents to provide for extradition proceedings failed to excite Mr. Insull, brother of the former head of the holding and public utility corporations whose dramatic collapse cost a $2,000,000,000 loss and astounded the financial world.

"I did not know anyone was coming," he said, "and I have no statement to make on this matter."

RETURNED THE CHECKS

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Four holdups men who robbed the Chicago Medical College returned checks to the value of $2,687 today. They kept $900 in cash. The checks had been presented for students' tuition fees.

Lumbermen's Delegations Leave to Study Markets

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—To study marketing conditions for British Columbia lumber in the United Kingdom and confer with importers in that country, a delegation of representatives of the Associated Timber Exporters of British Columbia will leave on Wednesday and will sail on the Empress of Britain on October 15.

Members of the delegation to Great Britain include H. J. Mackin, Canadian Western Lumber Co., chairman; J. O. Robson, of the Timberland Lumber Co., New Westminster; F. W. Pendleton, of the Mohawk Lumber Co., New Westminster; and C. H. Grinnell, of the Seaboard Sales Co.

Major L. R. Andrews, of the British Columbia Lumber Manufacturers' Association, will sail for China on the Empress of Asia on Saturday to survey conditions in that country. The delegation expects to remain in the Old Country for six weeks, and will have a conference with Major Loren L. Brown, representative of the British Columbia interests, now stationed in London.

Freighters extended during the Imperial Conference put exporters from this province at a slight advantage, but they realize that they must be fully acquainted with the market requirements of the Old Country and be in personal contact with buyers.

CANDIDATE FOR TRUSTEE NAMED

John Wood May Run for City School Board—Nominating Convention Slated

Coinciding with the announcement that John Wood, of 625 Linden Avenue, would be a candidate for the school board in the forthcoming election, it was announced at last night's meeting of the Trades and Labor Council that the nominating convention for civic election candidates would be held on October 28.

On that evening delegates from the various labor organizations will gather in the Labor Hall to choose their representatives for the various civic bodies.

Mr. Wood, who is local representative for the International Correspondence School, will speak to the Trades and Labor Council at its next meeting and outline his platform, which strongly favors technical education. It was announced by one of the delegates to the meeting.

Film Studio Material Is Coming Here

Oath-taking of the necessary material for the production of motion pictures in this city is almost completed. The Trades and Labor Council was informed at its meeting last night.

A committee reporting on what progress had been made stated that it had learned that all developing equipment had been purchased and that cameras had been shipped to Victoria from Hollywood.

Kenneth Bishop, producer of Commonwealth Productions, Ltd., is expected back in the city shortly and work on "The Crimson West" will get under way probably the latter part of this month.

cubic yard, and platinum, $0.12 per cubic yard, the latter being calculated at $40 per ounce. While such does not by any means indicate that this is the average value of the more valuable metals, it does indicate that the gold and platinum content of the ore is considerable. The results of pan samples indicate that consideration should be given to the matter of saving platinum values. While P. Jensen's bench test is indicated as being the best ground, it should be borne in mind that very little work indeed has been accomplished to date at other places.

TESTING JUSTIFIED

"Although thirty to forty men have been on the creek during the season, only in spots has any testing been done to indicate what average values might be. These show, however, that systematic testing is well justified. The physical nature of the occurrence is such as to make ideal dredging conditions, excepting only that large boulders occur in some places.

"Owing to the remote location of the area, airplane transportation has been largely employed in getting into the creek. Costs are relatively high, but it is to be noted that the original locator, P. Jensen, had worked on the creek nearly every year since 1908. His operations involving long pack trips in and out with hand methods, are believed to have afforded him somewhat better than a living. It is expected that the detail information now available about this placer occurrence will result in large-scale testing with a view to inauguration of an important dredging enterprise. Copies of the bulletin may be obtained free on application to the Department of Mines.

Accidental Death Verdict of Jury

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5 (CP).—A verdict of accidental death was returned this afternoon by a coroner's jury in the case of Miss Agnes Reed, forty, director of home service for the British Columbia Electric Railway, killed in an automobile collision with a streetcar on Saturday evening.

J. B. Lawson, driver of the car which collided with the automobile driven by Miss Reed, was exonerated from any blame.

MANY APPEALS WILL BE HEARD

City's Court of Revision on Assessments to Reconsider Next Tuesday

The city's Court of Revision on the assessment roll will resume its sessions on Tuesday, it was announced yesterday by Mayor David Leeming.

There are sixty-five appeals against the assessments to be heard, and it is expected that the court will be in session several weeks.

Mayor David Leeming, in commenting on the $1,800,000 cut in the net taxable assessment, said it represented one million assuming that next year's budget is the same as this year's. It will require $2.5 mills to raise the same amount of money on the basis of the 1932 assessment as compared with 41.5.

"A determined effort will be made to keep the tax rate down," Mayor Leeming stated. "Nothing more definite than this can be given, however, until it is learned exactly what percentage of the current tax levy and the amount of tax arrears have been collected this year."

PARTLY DEVoured BY GRIZZLY BEAR

DAWSON, Y.T., Oct. 5 (CP).—John Macdonald, seventy-year-old woodchopper and old-time Yukoner, was attacked and killed by a large grizzly bear near here recently. His body, badly mutilated and partly devoured, was found in the bush on Campbell Slough, forty miles above here on the Yukon River. It was taken to a cabin and left there, with the door heavily barred with timbers, to await arrival of the police. But the bear, probably made ravenous by the scarcity of the usual berry food, evidently visited the cabin, for when authorities arrived they found the door broken down and portions of the body scattered in the bushes outside. The remains were brought here.

o'clock. There was no sudden crash, just several hard bumps as all we felt, causing someone to remark, "What was that?" Immediately the whistles were blown, and quicker than it takes to tell it, Captain T. W. Johnson had taken charge and the order was given to abandon the ship.

"There were forty-six in all aboard, and every one entered the lifeboats with the exception of 'Sparks.' Captain Johansen and First Mate Wendt. 'Bill' Robertson, the operator, was last seen entering the lifeboat, and was breaking over the Nevada and threatening to break her up. The two boats were let go. Both got clear of the ship and landed on the beach. I was one of the sixteen in No. 3 lifeboat, the boat De Wall, Decaney and myself were in. At first we could see no land, but suddenly it loomed out of the mist like a heavy dark cloud.

BOAT CAPSIZED

"We had seen the other boat shortly before we sighted the land, but do not know what happened to it as we were captured by a huge comb. We saw the big wave coming, and somebody said, 'My God, we have no chance now.' A moment before it struck us. I remember grabbing the lifeboat and holding on for a while, but was washed clear and eventually found myself among the rocks ashore, coughing up salt water and oil, and just about all in. Recovering slightly, I looked about and saw Gonzalez and together we located De Wall. There were bits of wreckage strewn along the shore and the bodies of two able seamen and a Chinaman were seen.

"The next morning we could see two figures on the ship, and we could recognize the captain as we were. But whether the other was 'Bill' Robertson or First Mate Wendt, we could not distinguish. Here Gonzalez interrupted the story and we saw them both jump into the sea from what was then left of the superstructure above water."

Continuing, Thorsen said: "It was pretty cold on the rocks, and there was nothing to eat, except some wet flour in the wreckage, so we were cheered somewhat by the Oregon Maru hove in sight. We wore up lengths of manila paper from rolls which had come ashore from the Nevada and endeavored to make our presence known. We were seen from the Japanese vessel, and they made every effort to get close in with their boats, but the sea was then too rough.

ABANDONED HOPE

"The Oregon Maru appeared that afternoon, and when she started to move away, we just about gave up all hope. Having no means of making a fire, we suffered considerable hardship that night and next morning. Our next line of life was when the Madison appeared about noon of the second day. That's all. We were hauled through the surf on a life-line which Blomberg brought ashore, and taken aboard the ship, where we received every assistance possible; and here we are."

Asked if he would return to a seafaring life, Thorsen stated that the voyage was undertaken in an interval between school terms, and that he had intended to return to high school in February. He guessed he would do just that. As for Gonzalez Decaney, it was a toss-up. He hadn't made up his mind.

CLAIM MINIMUM WAGES NOT PAID

Trades and Labor Council to Make Representation for Rigid Enforcement

Grievances in connection with alleged violation of Minimum Wage Act by employers were discussed at last night's meeting of the Trades and Labor Council.

As a result of the complaints, steps will be taken to make representation to the proper authorities.

One of the more outstanding complaints was that of a girl, whose parents were out of work, and who was employed herself at a week's work from 12 o'clock noon to 11 o'clock at night. When fair wage officers visited the employer after a complaint had been lodged by those who had heard of the case, the girl was sent home with the instruction that she should be recalled when her services were again required.

CONTROL SOUGHT BY RIVAL UNIONS

Mounted Police Disperse Pickets—Efforts to Bring About Strike Prove Ineffectual

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Oct. 5 (CP).—Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers tonight anxiously scanned the situation in the Wayne coal fields where two rival unions are seeking control. Today the police were forced to disperse a band of men and women picketers who sought to prevent workmen entering the Sovereign Coal Company mine at Wayne.

United Mine Workers of America members were working the Sovereign mine under an agreement which supplanted the one held by the Mine Workers' Union of Canada, whose members held sway in the mine until their agreement expired on March 31, 1931. This change in the mine workers' union which resulted in the Canadian union declaring a strike which went unheeded today by the opposing faction.

Plans Flight Round Globe By Red Route

MONTREAL, Oct. 5 (CP).—Jacques Hebert, Montreal aviator and sportsman, plans to take off from London on Saturday on a round-the-world airplane tour, according to a letter received from him today. He plans to follow as far as possible the "all red route."

Hebert shipped his moth plane to England during the summer and since then preparations have been proceeding. He plans to fly from London to Australia by easy stages via Egypt, Iraq, Persia, India, Burma, Malay States, Dutch East Indies, and New Guinea, and then to Sydney. He will then proceed to Sydney, banking on a steamship for Vancouver. From the Pacific Hebert intends to fly home across Canada.

BARBERS' SERVICES ARE GIVEN FREELY

In answer to criticism that barbers were too high in Victoria, it was explained at last night's meeting of the Trades and Labor Council that union barbers did a lot of work of a charitable character.

Each union shop undertook to alternate in the providing of barbers' services to the orphanages and Friendly Help fund of the city, where as the lower-priced shops did not do this service.

The secretary of the Trades and Labor Council was instructed to write to the secretary of the barbers' union, expressing the council's thanks for the services rendered these institutions by the union barbers.

COME TO LIVE IN VICTORIA

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Halliday Honored by Indians at Alert Bay

W. M. Halliday, J.P., and Mrs. Halliday arrived in Victoria from Alert Bay yesterday to take up their permanent residence in the city.

For nearly thirty years Mr. Halliday has been Indian agent, magistrate and coroner at Alert Bay, and for a number of years before that was a resident of the district as teacher in the Indian school and as a pioneer settler at Kingcome Inlet.

On retiring from the service, Mr. and Mrs. Halliday were recipients of unique honors from the Indians. Different representatives of the tribes of the Kwakwaka nation gathered at Alert Bay and invited the Hallidays to a lifetime to meet them.

NATIVE TRIBUTES

An old white-haired chief rose when all had gathered in the Mission Hall. Since he was a young man, said the chief, in the days when he was strong, powerful and his hair was black as the raven, he had known the "gi-kum" (chief) and always the Indian agent had been kindly. Sometimes, he said, they had not always seen eye to eye, for the agent had to carry out the departmental regulations, but always they had found that he was like a father to them. At times he had to punish them, and this the Indians did not like, but the punishment was meted out fairly and without prejudice, and even when the Indians objected they knew that the agent was doing his duty. The "gi-kum" had their best interests at heart. Now that they were to lose him they were all sad, for both the agent and Mrs. Halliday had been kind to them throughout the years.

To show their affection and respect each of the tribes presented a totem pole emblematic of their people, while a beautifully woven Indian rug and carved cedar chest were presented as tokens of the nation as a whole.

Pupils of the Indian school also made a presentation of a decorated cedar chest of exquisite workmanship.

Mr. and Mrs. Halliday were also honored by the white residents of Alert Bay at numerous social affairs, for both the agent and Mrs. Halliday had been kind to them in all the activities of the district for more than a quarter of a century.

SENIOR IN SERVICE

Mr. Halliday, who applied early in the year for superannuation, was the senior in point of service of the Indian agents in British Columbia. When he went among the Kwakwaka they were only partly civilized; now they are one of the most progressive of the native peoples on the Coast.

A son of the pioneer schoolmasters of British Columbia, Mr. Halliday was educated in the schools of Victoria and himself became a teacher in the province. He also taught for a time in the schools of Washington, continuing his studies, and later became professor of mathematics in an American college. He eventually returned to British Columbia and took up land with his brother at Kingcome Inlet. Later he became a teacher in the Indian schools, and shortly after the turn of the century was appointed Indian agent, the post from which he has just retired.

For years he planned to take up residence in Victoria upon retirement, and that ambition has been fulfilled.

LABOR COUNCIL HAS NEW HALL

Early in November the Victoria Trades and Labor Council will move into its new quarters in the Hanley Building. The rooms formerly occupied by the Constitutional Club have been leased, it was announced at last night's meeting of the council.

A departure from the usual practice of the organization will be taken when the move to the new Labor Hall. Seating accommodation will be provided for the public, apart from the seating arrangements for the delegates. In this way the interested in the work of the council may follow the debates at the general meetings.

Lord's Prayer Read Slowly; Detain Pupils

The speed at which the Lord's Prayer should be recited to achieve the proper decorum by a school class was one of the problems discussed at last night's meeting of the Trades and Labor Council.

One of the delegates stated he had been informed that twenty-six girls had been detained after school hours because they had declined to speed their recitation of the Lord's Prayer, thus retarding other students who were not so slow. He moved that Ira Dilworth, principal of the Victoria High School, be invited to attend the next meeting of the council and explain the matter. His motion, however, failed to carry.

CRISIS DUE TO LACK OF FAITH

Rev. E. J. Springett Believes Lazily in Religious Life Cause of Trouble Today

The crisis through which the world is passing has as its basic cause a religious aspect rather than being due to economic, industrial or political causes, in the opinion of Rev. E. J. Springett, of Toronto, secretary of the British-Israel Federation of Canada, who addressed a largely attended meeting in the Chamber of Commerce last evening.

The crisis of the day had come about owing to a weakening of faith and lazily as to religion. The world was beginning to realize this more fully. The Bible had laws that applied to all circumstances. There was a great plan for the redemption of mankind. This was all part of the design of God. It aimed at a model state, the intention of God being to found a model order for which people prayed when they supplicated in the words "Thy kingdom come."

SWARDS RATTLING

The signs of the times pointed to further clashes among nations. Swords throughout Europe were rattling in their scabbards. Great Britain had set a worthy example in the matter of disarmament, going as far as possible to go.

The signs of the times pointed to the coming of the King of Israel. The Saviour of the World was represented as prophet, priest and King. Jesus had fulfilled the office of prophet. He had, by the sacrifice of Himself, made intercession for the people and thus performed the functions of priest. There yet remained His fulfilling of the functions of King.

Before He came to take His duty, restitution according to the Word of God had to be made. These, the speaker contended, were the last days of the Christian dispensation, which was nearing an end. The Kingdom of God would have to be established on earth. There were no special claims put forward for the British race, except that it had been chosen to set an example to the whole world.

W. H. Blackaller, president of the British-Israel Federation of Canada, presided. H. B. Pettit, provincial director, also spoke briefly.

DENTIST SHOT BY TORONTO BANDIT

TORONTO, Oct. 5 (CP).—Victim of two holdup men, Dr. William G. More, Toronto dentist, lies critically wounded tonight with a bullet from an automatic pistol in his abdomen. All available police of the city, under the direction of Chief Constable D. C. Draper and a staff of inspectors, were combing the city in an intensive manhunt for the two men.

Dr. More was alone in his dental office when two roughly dressed men entered, one showing an automatic's muzzle into Dr. More's stomach. Before the dentist could make a move to resist or remonstrate, the pistol discharged and he fell to the floor.

Apparently panic-stricken, the two bandits fled without making any attempt at robbery. Dr. More struggled to a telephone and summoned police and a doctor.

The bullet passed through his abdomen and lodged in his left leg. He is in a critical condition.

CHURCH SUNDAY MEETS

The Christian Endeavor Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church held a successful meeting on Monday evening, with the retiring president, Duncan Stewart, in the chair. Mrs. J. Marrs and Miss Jean McGowan assisted in the leadership of the meeting. Special musical items were given by Miss Mary Irvine, Miss Anne McMillan and Miss Jean Sloan.

On Tuesday evening the newly-elected officers were installed in their work as executive in a beautiful dedicatory service led by the pastor, Rev. G. F. Cox. Mrs. J. Marrs, president for the new term, gave an interesting paper on "How Does the Teaching of Jesus Change Business?" As this was consecration night, all members responded to roll call with Scripture verses.

FRED OAK IS ACQUITTED OF ARSON CHARGE

Ex-Soldier Is Freed by Jury
—Accused of Starting
Hospital Fire

PRINCIPAL WITNESS
ABSENT FROM COURT

Frederick J. W. Oak, twenty-two years old and a former member of the permanent militia force stationed at Work Point Barracks, Esquimalt, accused of setting fire to the military hospital there on the night of February 27, 1931, was set free by a jury at the assize court here late yesterday afternoon, following an all-day trial.

Twenty-three witnesses were examined by Crown and defence, including a thirty-page testimony of an absent Crown witness, and it took the jury exactly six minutes to arrive at its verdict of not guilty.

VERDICT PREDICTED
There was practically no doubt as to what the verdict of the jury would be after Chief Justice Morrison asked the jury to consider the demeanor of the accused on the stand. "Can you associate this prisoner with such an ungodly act as deliberately setting fire to a hospital?" he asked.

The charge of arson brought against the accused was based on the information given to the police by one William Carscadden, a former comrade of Private Oak at Work Point, who was discharged from the service and who was sentenced to jail for the theft of a motor car. Witnesses for the accused at the trial yesterday, and they included city and provincial police officers, said that Carscadden had openly threatened to "get Oak." Private Oak had been with Carscadden on the night the motor car was stolen, but was acquitted, while Carscadden was convicted, witnesses stated yesterday.

Mr. Carscadden, who gave evidence at the police court hearing, was not present at the trial yesterday, and his evidence given at the police court was admitted and read to the jury. He is in hospital in Alberta and unfit to travel.

INFORMANT'S EVIDENCE
The evidence of the absent witness was to the effect that he, in company with Private Thomas Vance, went into Victoria, at the request of Private Oak to purchase five gallons of gasoline, bought the gasoline at a filling station on Johnson Street, returned to the hospital at Work Point and handed the container to Oak outside the hospital, and then drove away to attend a dance at Colwood.

Carscadden's testimony contained references to Oak's intention of destroying the hospital, and stated that Oak had told him he would burn the hospital, so that it would set fire to another building in which he was housed, and by doing that he would get permission to live out of barracks, and then he would get enough money for living expenses on which to get married. Kidd Committee To Meet Cabinet This Afternoon

ORGANIZATIONS sponsoring the survey made by the Kidd committee on provincial affairs will meet the Cabinet at 4 p.m. today, it was learned yesterday at the Premier's office. It is anticipated that Mainland and Island organizations which subscribed to the preparation of the report will be represented in the delegation to meet the Government. The understood purpose of the meeting is to ask for adoption of the principle of retrenchment set out in the report, without, however, an insistence on the actual means by which such economies were suggested. If this is the purpose of the meeting, the Government, it is anticipated, is likely to be wholly in sympathy with the request.

den also stated that Oak had told him he had a narrow escape after the explosion, which occurred after he had sprinkled the gasoline on the basement stairs and on coals near the furnace. Carscadden also said that Oak had threatened him with the words, "If you ever open your mouth about this, you know what is coming to you."

NO DIRECT TESTIMONY
The Crown presented a long list of witnesses to the stand, eighteen in all, in an effort to link Carscadden's story with the accused. Not one of the witnesses saw Carscadden buy the gasoline, none saw him give it to Oak at the hospital at Work Point, and not one of them gave evidence directly connecting the accused with the burning of the building. No official investigation of the fire had taken place until more than a year had passed. Provincial Fire Marshal Thomas Vancouver, inspected the building last July and intimated there were indications that the fire had started from gasoline. The Chief Justice remarked to the jury that there were many other causes of fire and suggested that neither Crown or defence counsel had produced any evidence to show that the fire at the hospital had, or had not been started from cloths used for polishing floors, which were known to have been left on the basement stairs and near the place where the fire originated. He considered that important, he said.

THREATENED ACCUSED
That Carscadden had a deep-rooted grudge against the accused, after the former had been released from Oakalla, was borne out by the evidence of an independent witness who testified yesterday that Carscadden had told him he was going to get Oak. His words, Carscadden said, were, "I have done a stretch for Oak, and now Oak is going to take a stretch."

Mrs. Oak, young wife of the accused, told the court of receiving letters, addressed to her husband, in which Carscadden had asked Mr. Oak to forge a testimonial that he could use overseas as he was to be deported. These letters were destroyed, Mrs. Oak testified.

PRISONER'S STORY

In the witness box, the accused related what had occurred on the night of the fire. He had given Carscadden his cheque to cash for him in town, because he, Oak, was on duty as an orderly in the hospital that night. It was near midnight, he testified, that he was sitting in the kitchen at the hospital, and on going to the stairway leading into the basement, he saw flames coming from the direction of the furnace room. There was an explosion and his hair was singed by the rush of the flames up the stairs, the accused related.

Continuing his story, the accused said he aroused the patients, saw they were safely out of the building and then assisted in fighting the fire. Crown counsel, E. V. Finland, failed to shake the accused's account of the starting of the fire. The accused denied having any conversation with Carscadden concerning the hospital. He denied he had received a can of gasoline from Carscadden at any time.

LONG INVESTIGATION
The arrest of Private Oak last July followed a fire on February 27, 1931, which destroyed the Station Hospital at Work Point Barracks. Police and military officers investigated for over a year, and it was not until an officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police went to Calgary that Private Oak was implicated on the information given by William Carscadden. There were fifteen patients in the hospital at the time of the fire, but all escaped uninjured.

The case went to the jury at 5:18 p.m. and a verdict of not guilty was recorded six minutes later. Richard C. Lowe was counsel for the defence. The following comprised the jury: F. S. Bone (foreman), R. M. Allan, G. W. Liddell, F. Dodsworth, L. E. V. York, T. Fairhurst, J. Leighton, A. Adamson, Charles Dodgson, C. A. Field, R. E. McClure and Joseph F. Harper.

The court will resume at 10:30 o'clock this morning to proceed with the remainder of the cases on the docket. They are: Rex versus Brooks and Rex versus Bamford.

Madison Was 600 Miles
From Nevada When SOS.
Was Received

"We picked up the SOS of the Nevada through St. Paul's radio station," Captain R. L. Healy, commander of the President Madison, told newspapermen on the arrival of the liner here yesterday. "This was at 11:30 o'clock on the night of September 26, and our course was immediately altered to render what aid we could. The wind was blowing hard and from the east-southeast, and we were about 600 miles west of Amagasaki Island. Steaming at full speed we arrived at the scene of the wreck at noon on September 29."

"The weather was thick as we neared the wreck of the Nevada, and we were guided close in by the Oregon Maru, which was standing by. There was a considerable sea running and the surf was breaking on the wreck when we reached it. The wind was blowing hard and from the east-southeast, and we were about 600 miles west of Amagasaki Island. Steaming at full speed we arrived at the scene of the wreck at noon on September 29."

FINE WORK
"As the boats neared the shore, deciding that it was imperative the lives of those aboard the boats, the officer in charge called for volunteers to swim ashore, and E. Amberg went over the side with a line. It was a fine piece of work, and the men were safe aboard the Madison by 4 o'clock."

Captain Healy stated that the Nevada was ten miles off her course when she struck.

Passengers aboard the liner were unanimous in lauding the work of Captain Healy, his officers and crew. They praised a fine piece of work, and subscription was taken up, the collection to be devoted to the purchase of a silver shield for the ship and the boats' crews going to the rescue. They also drew up a memorandum setting out the details of the rescue for presentation to the American Mail Line, owners of the President Madison.

NO NEW EXPERIENCE

Taking a ship into strange waters and rescuing imperiled ships and sailors was no new experience for the skipper of the Madison. Three years ago, when in command of the Montauk, he figured in a sensational bit of naval history, when, after considerable difficulty, he managed to get a line aboard the lumber-laden freighter Alloway, which was in difficulty in the North Pacific. He succeeded in getting a line fast aboard her and was endeavoring to tow her to safety when the hawser parted and she went ashore. On his arrival at Seattle, Captain Healy was honored by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and presented with a gold watch engraved in recognition of his efforts to save the Alloway.

Shipping of Other Commodities From Brazilian Port Being Resumed After Rebellion

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 5 (AP).—Closed three months by civil war, Santos, greatest coffee port of the world, was preparing to resume shipping today in all commodities except its most important. Mauro Roquette Pinto, president of the Coffee Council here, announced the ban on coffee exports, declaring the current New York slump resulted in the decision to prevent a sudden outflow.

The Civic Militia was directing food distribution in Sao Paulo City, capital of the Federal state, where Federal representatives were again in control. Colonel Carvalho, head of the Republican Guard, and in control of the city, reported he had dismissed the local police.

WHEAT MARKETING PROSPECTS

A matter of very substantial interest as a factor in the march of economic revival in the Dominion is the price which will be obtainable for this year's large domestic wheat crop. The output, it is estimated, will exceed 400,000,000 bushels. There are both adverse and favorable influences regarding marketing, and the latter seem to predominate. There are large current crops in both France and Germany, which to some extent will restrict the European demand. On the other hand there are small stocks in hand in Argentina and Australia; there is reduced production in the United States; the possibility of but a small surplus in the Danubian basin; reduced production in Russia, and something in the nature of an agricultural crisis in that country.

To aid the process of marketing the Canadian product there is to be a preference of six cents a bushel obtainable in the British market. This should have the effect of enabling at least 100,000,000 bushels to be exported to the United Kingdom. A departmental report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics takes the ground that the present crop year commences with Canada occupying the most favorable export position since 1928. This conception is based on the fact that there will be an unusual lack of foreign competition; that price levels are on an unusually sound basis; that little grain is offering or likely to offer for the time being from countries outside of North America. It is estimated, moreover, that there will be a rise in the prices of grain and other commodities during the next few months just as is going on at present in stocks and bonds. The Bureau report says:

"Present levels for commodities offer an opportunity for profit that probably will not be seen for many years to come. The outlook for increased world consumption of wheat becomes more promising each week. The character of the buying has lately been of the best possible sort. If the Wheat Pools take advantage of the opportunities that offer and profit by the lessons of their mismanagement in the past there is every reason to hope that the opportunities for marketing wheat this year will be whole and abundant. The Bureau report says:

LIBERALS FAVOR THE DOLE

The Liberal Association of British Columbia has formulated a platform which contains a declaration of support for the Federal Government in its determination to bring in the dole system for unemployment. The resolution to this effect at the annual convention of the party was introduced by Mr. G. S. Pearson, M.P. (Nanaimo), who is of opinion that industry has not done sufficient to provide adequate periods of depression. Mr. Pearson has omitted to point out that industry was severely handicapped in this regard in this province by the hundred and one new forms of taxation and increased taxation put into effect by the party he supports during its term of office. After all, industry, unlike governments, can only operate on economic plans. It must be governed by the law of supply and demand. There are limits to which it can mortgage its future. Governments failed lamentably to foresee and provide for a period of depression. Industry probably did the same.

Unemployment insurance, which the Liberals of British Columbia advocate, has nowhere been a factor in solving the unemployment problem. Nowhere has it been possible to establish the plan on an actuarial basis. Everywhere it has meant that the government concerned has been heavily tapped to keep the plan in existence. In other words, it is a new and progressive burden on the taxpayers and has proved to be an immense drain on the treasury. The fact that because of the dole a certain element of the population, and particularly the youth of a country, will be provided with such a safeguard saps moral vitality. There is always an element in every population which does not wish to work. The dole gives the means of fulfilling that desire, as has been found in Britain. Thus it provides a filip to a process of moral decadence, no matter how devised. It is, in effect, the modern substitute for the old time Poor House. The latter, however, had this advantage, inasmuch as its inmates had to render services for the privilege of being supported by the state.

There is an entire lack of vision about the future and a bankruptcy in constructive ideas when the dole is proposed in a country of such immense potential resources as Canada. Increased trade is the solution of unemployment, and, provided the resources exist, such growth in trade is dependent on the initiative and enterprise of the people who own them. It is not by stifling that initiative and enterprise by the dole that trade will be fostered. The very opposite effect is likely to ensue. The paradox of the platform of the Liberals of British Columbia is that while advocating the dole they favor efforts to extend export markets. These two planks are antagonistic. From the standpoint of increased trade this Dominion could not receive a worse advertisement than by instituting the dole. Britain's experience with that dole was contributory to an unbalanced budget, an alarmingly growing adverse balance of trade, the necessity of suspending the gold standard and the institution of heroic measures to rectify the saddening monetary conditions which the spread of Socialistic legislation imposed on the country. The Liberals of British Columbia are evidently of the opinion that unbalanced budgets and spending beyond the people's means are ordinary processes of government. That is the practice they assumed while in power, so that their present adherence to a policy involving the dole is merely a matter of running true to type.

SPEED

The appalling record of deaths and injuries due to the misuse of the motor car is the basis of a statement made by a Toronto official who declared that in any modern city the traffic problem constitutes a more serious challenge than the problem of crime. There is some debate as to whether the problem is to be solved by greater activity on the part of enforcement officials or a campaign of education for the benefit of those who operate the cars, but both are probably necessary.

Statistics have been collected which indicate that much can be accomplished by judicious city ordinances rigidly enforced. It is stated in a recent study of the subject that in St. Louis in the year 1925, with 34,356 arrests, followed by 18,335 convictions, there were 192 traffic fatalities, whereas in 1925, with 56,762 arrests, followed by 26,370 convictions, the fatalities dropped to 174. In 1927 the good work continued, and the number of deaths was reduced to 147. In 1928, however, laxity in the courts resulted in the conviction of only 29,956 of the 50,499 persons arrested, and the number of fatalities rose to 215. Stricter enforcement followed—59,938 arrests and 39,927 convictions—and the deaths were reduced to 162. Common sense opinion will endorse the dictum that excessive speed is a big factor in the slaughter of human life. When the State of Rhode Island reduced the average driving speed from 37 to 31 miles per hour, the number of fatal accidents was reduced from 145 to 106 in one year. It would, no doubt, prove a difficult matter to provide adequate training for motor car drivers, but something might be done to furnish them with information regarding the danger of excessive speed. It might have a restraining effect upon the thoughtless driver if he realized that the killing power of a moving car increases far faster than its speed. A car going at 40 miles per hour is, not twice, but four times as potent an instrument of death as one going twenty.

A political phenomenon of the times is that in all efforts by community pressure to induce governments to take this, that, or the other course of action there is a plea for the further invasion of the liberty of the people. The struggle for that liberty went on for centuries after the foundations of constitutional government were laid. Now those who won the fight seem disposed to relinquish the fruits of victory because they want government socialized more and more. As Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler says: "The plain fact is that there is constant and vigorous invasion of the sphere of liberty by government."

Mr. Alfred E. Smith, who once aspired to the presidential chair in the United States, says that the only book he ever read through was "The Life and Battles of John L. Sullivan." Somehow that literary feat does not seem an adequate preparation for the Chief Executive of a nation such as the United States.

Professor J. B. S. Haldane says that "if we have any lesson to learn from animal and plant genetics, it is that there is not any one best type in the species." The supporters of Professor Haldane's theories will thus be willing to admit that even man "drest in little brief authority" is "most ignorant of what he's most assured."

PETALS

Like petals which from orchard bend
Before the sudden storms of Spring,
For ever fall the sons of men.
Past counting, or remembering,
Yet none shall vanish from the wind,
To neighbor with the eternal dead,
While in a single, living mind
His story still is cherished.
Though garnered gold and red and rose,
Their sweet and bitter come to mill,
And cobweb grey the orchard close,
I see white petals falling still.

TOO MANY CONFERENCES

There is one practical objection to running the world in this way: the conference, like the cucumber, thrives best in a still atmosphere, and with so many nations engaged, it is difficult to synchronize times as to avoid a storm in one country or another. A particular world has not yet learnt to co-ordinate its crises, and whereas a general election is almost certainly fatal to a conference, there is nearly always something of the sort going on somewhere.—London Morning Post.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Manners with fortunes, honors turn with time.
Treats with books, and principles with time.

Years and years ago, about sixty-five years ago, to be more explicit, there was a session of Parliament which confirmed Confederation and established the new Dominion of Canada. That was a rather important event in the history of this country, not an insignificant event in the history of America, and not a trivial event in the history of the world. This week the Dominion Parliament will meet and adopt legislation which may be even more important than the legislation approved by the first Parliament of a united Canada. If the legislation which will be passed by the Parliament of Canada be confirmed by legislation of the Imperial Parliament (of which there is no doubt), and by the Parliaments of the sister Dominions, the year of grace 1932 will be a momentous year in the history of British parliamentary institutions, for on its records will be noted the establishment of a really United British Empire.

That is a consummation which has been in the minds of far-seeing British and Canadian statesmen from the days of Joseph Chamberlain down to the present day, but has been repeatedly frustrated by timid politicians in both Canada and Great Britain who lacked vision for the politicians who opposed consolidation of the British Empire were afflicted with the mental qualities which invariably are mixed with timidity, the qualities which the Scotch call caution and the English obstinacy. The opponents of Imperial policies were either blind or deliberately closed their eyes and could not see that the conditions under which Great Britain had prospered and grown fat under free trade with all the world were quite different from the conditions of this day when all the nations of the world have adopted the principles of protection. The old vision of Britain as the only manufacturing nation of the world and producing goods to supply all the markets of the world has faded, but the people who still call themselves "free traders on principle" cannot or will not see that the people of most of the nations have turned to home manufacturing and made themselves independent of the manufactured products of all other countries.

As someone has pointed out, the principle of free trade, in every sense of the term, is as dead as the original propounders of the doctrine—for in order to effectively apply the principle there must be unfettered competition, beginning at the root of the matter with the establishment of another principle, that of free trade in labor. Only in the countries of the world which we in our racial assurance of superiority call uncivilized is there unfettered competition in the labor market. And it is because labor is cheap in certain countries and comparatively dear in Britain that the industrial products of Great Britain, to use a phrase which at one time raised a great deal of bitter controversy, have "been driven from the civilized markets of the world" and are being driven from the uncivilized markets of the world.

So as the prospects of international free trade are remote, and are never likely to be revived, the nations of the British Empire are going to try an experiment in free trade, meaning more intimate trade relations with themselves. Absolute free trade being impossible, "broadening the basis of trade" would seem to be desirable, even from the restricted point of view of the most bigoted of free traders. If as a result of the deliberations and conclusions of the Ottawa Imperial Conference more liberal trade relations are established—one-quarter of the world (and not the least important quarter), just as one-quarter of a loaf must be better than no bread, surely from even a free trade point of view, that will be at least one step in the right direction.

There are optimistic economists who dream that the step the British nations have taken in the right direction will be followed by more steps in the same direction, who express a hope that a partial unshackling of the limbs of trade will revive business within the Empire and that the example thus set will be followed by an international movement towards freer trade. There is of course no telling what may be in store for the world in the immediate or the remote future, but there is no immediate indication that any of the great nations of the world will modify in any material degree their policies of protection. The trend of fiscal policies seems to be all in the other direction.

THE P.G.E. RAILWAY
Sir,—The Kidd report suggests either the sale or abandonment of the P.G.E. Railway. A sale at a fair price of this road would be good business, but abandonment, surely not. The road has already cost the taxpayers of British Columbia several million dollars, and under existing conditions will never pay overhead charges. Why not turn this road into an asset instead of a liability? May I offer a suggestion for the consideration of your readers (a reference to the map issued by the P.G.E. would, perhaps, promote a better understanding of the suggestion).
Tear up the track of the P.G.E. from Squamish to Lillooet, deck over and build guard rail on all trestles, grade down the roadbed a little, and we immediately have a first class highway. Finish the highway from Squamish into North Vancouver, and we immediately have a loop highway from Vancouver, via Squamish and Lillooet, back down through the Fraser Canyon, that will attract literally thousands of motorists. Use the steel taken up between Lillooet and Squamish to build forty-seven miles of railway between Lillooet and Lytton to connect at the latter point with the C.N.R. Use the balance of this same steel to connect from Quessell (the end of the present road) to Prince George, again tapping the C.N.R. from Prince Rupert at this point.

We create in this way a north and south feeder line for the great public system, and running rights could be secured for the P.G.E. over the C.N.R. from Lytton to Vancouver. Such running rights would, no doubt, be cheaper than the long roundabout way now in use. The splendid highway thus provided between North Vancouver and Lillooet will serve the country between these two points much more efficiently than any railway, and as this would prove one of the most attractive drives in the country a toll gate at Squamish would provide thousands of dollars per year to help make up for what we are now losing, and on the other hand the P.G.E., under the new route, might justify its existence.
Why not do this work as a constructive measure for the relief of the unemployed single men. Let's quit talking and get on with something worthwhile. J. S. PUDNEY, 702 Douglas Street, Victoria, B.C., October 4, 1932.

POLICE CAP BADGE
Sir,—I see in today's Colonist the city police are to have a new cap badge. I do hope they will wear this the right side up and not "upside down," as is the case with the St. John Ambulance Badge now being worn by a number of the men. R. HEALE, "Cheddon," Penseance Road, Victoria, B.C., October 4, 1932.

ROAD LIGHTS IN SAANICH
Sir,—The decision of Saanich Municipal Council not to light the road lamps this winter has caused widespread consternation among the inhabitants affected. A more foolish and retrograde step by a body of representative men can hardly be imagined these days.
Mr. Mark's Cloverleaf, requested them to reconsider the matter and allow two or three lamps to be lit near the church so that people might see their way to church. No, sir! They wouldn't even do that. These council members don't even want the ratepayers even to see light, but believe me, these council members will see light before the next election is over. Why did their predecessors go to the expense of erecting the light standards with connections if the lights were to be turned off? In all conscience these lights are few and far between as it is. Take for instance, the road from Douglas Street to Irving Drive, where the lights stop; there are only three lamps. There are no less than ten road lamps in the vicinity of the distance, which these three lamps have to serve. I don't suppose the council of keeping these three lamps lit during the two or three months of winter would be more than, say, $100.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

THE PROBLEM OF DEFENCE
Happy is that bridge player who can see, during the play of the hand, the proper attacking or defensive measures to undertake. In order either to realize his contract or secure the defeat of the adversary. Thereby he avoids the disaster which comes in the inevitable post-mortem on hands which could have been made by a different line of attacking play or possibly defeated by a brilliant defensive manoeuvre.
Recently, in a national tournament, the hand below was dealt, which gave to the East and West players an opportunity for the correct selection of the final contract, and to South, if the correct choice was not made, a chance for brilliant defence.

Of course, the correct final contract on this hand is six hearts, which can be made against any defence that North and South can put up. The hand was played at twelve tables, and three of the West players had self-denial enough to permit the East hand to play the contract in slam at hearts, which was easily realized. At the other tables, however, West could not forego the count for his honors and played the hand at six spades, which was made at every table but one. The brilliant defensive play which might about the defeat of the incorrect contract was made by Mr. John H. Law, of Cleveland, who held the South hand.

The trouble with the restorers and their officials, they tear over the roads in their cars with their headlights fully ablaze, and what do they, or others with cars, care for pedestrians? Most Saanich roads have no sidewalks, and some of the sidewalks, like those on Saanich Road, consist of rotten planks and broken fences, which a pedestrian walks on at his own risk in the daytime, but would not do so in the dark, so that he is forced to take to the road.
The councillor for Ward Two resides next door to the city, so, fortunately for him, he knows the road of the city lights, so that it matters little to him how the other parts of his ward suffer without light.
I see, too, that the municipality has decided to share the cost with the city of the lights bordering on the municipality. Ye gods! the inconsistency of these councillors, where the city pays half the cost, residents on the border lines can have the light, but in the districts where the lights are most required, shut them up. I may say anything the council has done in the past has stirred up the ratepayers more than this cutting off the road lights.

A HYMN OF HYMNS
(Composed by taking one line from twenty-four different hymns.)
The sun is set, the twilight's o'er,
And shades of night return once more,
O may no earthly birth cloud arise,
Life with its way before us lies.

Through all my wanderings wild
And drear,
A beam from heaven is sent to cheer,
And while the hours in order flow,
I give Thee back the life I owe.

The roseate hues of early dawn,
Bright robes of gold the fields adorn,
Where life is waking all around,
And every place is hallowed ground.

Where streams of living water flow,
And trees of life forever grow,
Now let the dew of heaven descend,
And friend hold fellowship with friend.

For sinners whoso'er they be,
Not left to lie like fallen tree,
And round my heart still closely twine,
The beauty of the oak and pine.

In life's rough way our feet defend,
But chiefly at the journey's end,
And perfect love and friendship reign,
And everlasting glory gain.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY
(From The Daily British Colonist of October 6, 1882)
The body of the man found floating in the Columbia River with his throat cut was identified as that of a passenger on board the Queen of the Pacific from San Francisco, who was killed and murdered in his stateroom and then thrown into the river.

The first paper hunt of the season will take place on Saturday. The hunt will start at "Bladon," the residence of Captain Dupont, at 3 o'clock. This hunt was very peculiar last year and is expected to be even more so this season.

Some kind person broke into the house of a much respected widow in this city while she was away from home and deposited a bag of money, a sack of potatoes and ten pounds of sugar. Perhaps she will forgive the forced entry.

The following was recently clipped from an Eastern paper: "We intended to have a death and a marriage to publish this week, but a violent storm prevented the wedding, and the doctor being sick himself, the patient recovered, and we are accordingly cheated out of both."

At a special assembly held yesterday afternoon at the Victoria High School prizes and bursaries made available through the generosity of Victoria citizens to students of the city were presented by the donors or their representatives. In the main body of the assembly hall, in addition to the recipients of the awards, there were first-year Victoria College students who were last year pupils at the Victoria High School, and present students of the High School senior year.

Those on the platform were Mrs. S. J. Willis, Trustee P. E. George and J. M. Campbell, Professor and Mrs. P. H. Elliott, Walter Gage, Miss Jeannette A. THE PRESENTATIONS

The presentations made were as follows:

I.O.G.E. Bursary, of the total value of $1,200, competed for provincially established as a memorial for the Canadians who fell in the war, and open to sons or daughters of men who lost their lives in action or died as a result of war service. For the third time, this was won this year by a Victoria High School student, in this instance, William Holbourne, who matriculated from the school last June. The presentation was made by Mrs. Curtis Sampson, and the explanation of the bursary was made by Miss A. B. Cooke, who stressed the fact that the bursary was a memorial to assist the sons and daughters of those who made the great sacrifice to prepare themselves to play a great and helpful part in Canada in peace time.

TRADE MATTERS TO BE PROBED

Special Committees Named by Chamber of Commerce to Make Inquiries

Three important committees have been named by the committee on committees of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. The matters which they have in hand are for the most part such as require early investigation if results are to be worth while.

One of these has to do with the subject of the added rate of three and a half cents a hundredweight on apples coming here from the Okanagan, as compared with the rate to Coast Mainland points. As there is a large amount of apples to go into cold storage this year, to be in turn shipped out from time to time to meet the demands of the export trade, it is essential that if any redress is to be obtained early action be taken.

The committee named to investigate this matter is composed of H. A. Leigh (chairman), H. T. Barnes, C. F. Goodrich, D. McBride and W. C. Wilson. The committee will meet at 2:30 p.m. today to go into the subject matter referred to it.

Another committee named yesterday was one to investigate the complaints coming from the Typographical Union with regard to evasion of the principle of the customs duties by publishers of some Canadian editions of American magazines. This committee, which will meet at 11 o'clock today, is composed of H. M. Digson (chairman), B. C. Nicholas, Thomas Scott, A. P. Stevens and J. L. Tait.

A third committee chosen was one to look into the subject of the tariff on nine and lead as affecting the Canadian industry in these lines of metallic products. The committee consists of G. H. Stevens (chairman), W. A. Loney, H. J. Pendray, James Parfitt, G. M. Tripp and George Beck.

The committee on committees that named these committees is composed of W. T. Strath (chairman), R. H. B. Ker, president of the chamber, G. H. Stevens, James Parfitt and J. H. Beatty, M.P.P.

Trial of Robert Rowan Adjourned Until Next Week

Charged with unlawfully keeping liquor for sale and for being in possession of unsealed liquor contrary to the Government Liquor Act.

The trial of Robert Rowan, charged with unlawfully keeping liquor for sale and for being in possession of unsealed liquor contrary to the Government Liquor Act, was opened at the city police court yesterday morning and after several witnesses for the prosecution had been heard, was adjourned until Thursday, October 13.

Evidence submitted to the court yesterday by the prosecution was given by police officers who visited the accused's premises on Belleville Street, on September 18. The premises, the police stated, had been searched for several days preceding the raid. Officials of the liquor stores identified sales slips purporting to be for liquor purchased by Rowan since last July.

C. L. Harrison is conducting the hearing for the prosecution, and Stuart Henderson appeared for Mr. Rowan.

TO OPEN CONCERT SERIES TONIGHT

Entertainments for Unemployed to Be Staged Weekly—Fine Programmes Arranged

Opening the Winter series of concerts staged at the Citizens' Recreation Room, a fine array of local talent will present a series of entertainments, including vocal, instrumental and novelty selections, commencing at 8 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. D. D. Todd, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced that weekly concerts have already been planned until the end of the year.

Tonight's entertainment will be in charge of Thomas Obee, popular local comedian, who will also appear through the Dominion council examinations. Bear in mind it is very well known in Victoria and you are a young man starting out and it could not do you any good to give evidence against me.

They had been discussing the Poughouse case, said Dr. Wiggin. "What have you got to say for Dr. Seldon?" asked Mr. Farris. "I have not got it in for Dr. Seldon," replied witness.

Mr. Farris' next question elicited an objection from Mr. Locke and the witness' comment. "Mr. Farris, you are being very small and irrelevant."

FUNERAL ON FRIDAY

The funeral services will be held at Fulford Harbor on Friday at 1:45 o'clock, for Mrs. Kate Furness, interment to be made at Ganges Cemetery.

ENTRIES FOR VICTORIA HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY'S ANNUAL DISPLAY WILL CLOSE TODAY

Entries for the Autumn Chrysanthemum Show, to be held by the Victoria Horticultural Society in the Shrine Hall on Saturday, will close today, and intending exhibitors are urged to make their entry before it is too late.

This year's show is expected to be one of the most successful ever staged by the local society, which has grown considerably during the last years, largely owing to the success of these displays. An attractive list of prizes has been offered for competition in the many classes. It is anticipated that chrysanthemums, Michaelmas daisies and dahlias will predominate the show. From present indications, however, the other classes will be well represented.

FEATURE OF SHOW

A feature of this year's show will be a special class for twelve-foot-square section of Autumn flowers. This will afford an opportunity to many of Victoria's best-known growers to display the full produce of their gardens. Decorated tables will be decorated with outdoor-grown flowers only. Another interesting feature, in addition to the floral section, will be the potato exhibition, which has drawn an entry list of more than forty members.

Prize lists and further details of the show may be obtained from F. E. Boulter, secretary, 538 Obed Avenue; telephone E 8490.

WOULD CONTINUE LIBRARY SERVICE

Ward Four Saanich Ratepayers Disapprove Council's Action—Education Costs Discussed

Discussion on the matter of discontinuing the library service in Saanich and the possibility of effecting economies in educational costs, featured a meeting of the Ward Four (Saanich) Ratepayers' Association in Marigold Hall last night. R. A. Scott presided. The meeting was attended by Councillor W. R. Woods and School Trustees A. E. Hull and William Tomes.

A report on the library question, presented by the secretary and endorsed by Councillor Woods, explained details concerning the discontinuance of the library service and the present situation. After discussion, which gave evidence that the meeting was in favor of the renewal, a resolution was passed to drop this matter temporarily.

Education costs were outlined to the meeting by the trustees who felt that no further economy could be effected than had already been done by the present board, with the exception of altering the salary scale.

Councillor Woods was invited to address the ratepayers on ward business performed by the council this year. He explained that unemployment had been the predominant question and there had been no satisfactory solution for relieving it. Relief work during September had cost Saanich $2,000, he said, which indicated the council would be well overpaid on its $15,000 appropriation, as the total relief cost for the year would be more than $20,000. One pleasing factor, the councillor noted, was the substantial increase in tax collections over last year.

LOCAL DOCTOR IN ARGUMENT

Dr. Wiggins Clashes With Lawyer at Trial at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—Trial of the damage action against Dr. George E. Seldon was featured this afternoon by a clash between Dr. R. H. Wiggins, of Victoria, who was a witness for Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Fowright, claimants for $87,850, and J. W. DeB. Farris, K.C., leading defence counsel.

Dr. Wiggins was called in rebuttal by C. H. Locke, plaintiffs' counsel. The witness explained that he was a house surgeon of Vancouver General Hospital on January 1, 1931, when Dr. Seldon operated on Mrs. Fowright for a dislocated left hip.

DENIES TESTIMONY

Flatly contradicting Dr. Roy Huggard, witness for Dr. Seldon, Dr. Wiggins swore that Dr. Huggard took no part whatever in the operation. On the contrary, he, Dr. Wiggins, he, assisted Dr. Seldon and to that extent took part in the operation. Witness' initials were attached to the operating report.

Joining issue with statements already made by Dr. Seldon and Dr. Huggard, the witness testified that he heard no sound, such as is made by the hip bone going into place; no measurements were taken after the reduction operation, and Dr. Seldon did not rotate the limb for freedom of movement.

THREAT ALLEGED

Dr. Seldon, according to witness, saw him in his office at Victoria a few weeks before the first trial. "I would advise you not to give evidence in the trial," Dr. Seldon said on that occasion, according to Dr. Wiggins. "You know I got you through the Dominion council examinations. Bear in mind I am very well known in Victoria and you are a young man starting out and it could not do you any good to give evidence against me."

They had been discussing the Poughouse case, said Dr. Wiggins. "What have you got to say for Dr. Seldon?" asked Mr. Farris. "I have not got it in for Dr. Seldon," replied witness.

Mr. Farris' next question elicited an objection from Mr. Locke and the witness' comment. "Mr. Farris, you are being very small and irrelevant."

FUNERAL ON FRIDAY

The funeral services will be held at Fulford Harbor on Friday at 1:45 o'clock, for Mrs. Kate Furness, interment to be made at Ganges Cemetery.

Volunteers Will Clear Grounds of New High School

Nearly 150 public spirited members of the Mount View High School Parent-Teacher Association are expected to attend the "working bee" being staged on the school grounds on Thanksgiving Day. The plan was originated several days ago at a meeting of the association when it was decided that the body could be of assistance to Saanich School Board by offering services of the members to perform work which the board might desire.

At the last meeting of the board, it was decided to ask the workers to undertake clearing of bush adjoining the football grounds. Lunch will be provided by ladies of the association. Equipment for the work will be provided those who turn out. An appeal for a large representation of association men is being made by R. B. Prendergast, who was largely instrumental in organizing the move.

W. H. Warren Addresses Victoria Horticultural Society—Prizes for Gardens Are Awarded

The advantages of using shrubs and trees in the decoration of city grounds was placed before the members of the Victoria Horticultural Society, Tuesday evening, at the meeting of that body in the City Hall. The speaker was W. H. Warren, superintendent of parks for the city, who enumerated the various trees and shrubs which might be used in carrying out a plan of landscape gardening in which these would play a part.

The speaker alluded to the fact that Victoria was noted as a city of flowers rather than as one which made use of trees and shrubs. He expressed the opinion that there might be a wise use made of the latter in conjunction with flowers.

The culture of various kinds of shrubs was treated in the course of the address, and a much valuable information imparted to the large gathering of members.

ANNUAL MEETING

A change in the constitution was made on motion of E. M. Whyte, so that the annual meeting would be held in future in January, and the year of the association made to conform to the calendar year.

The announcement of the awards for gardens for the year was made at the meeting by the president, H. Whitlock, who acted as judge, with W. J. Sheppard. The awards were as follows: 1. Mrs. A. Abbott, 275 points; 2. Mrs. Pell, 2545 Cadboro points.

PRIVATE RECITAL

Mr. Walter Buxbaum will give a private piano recital to members of the Beaux-Arts Society at the home of Col. A. A. Sharland, Arbutus o'clock.

THE MONTHLY INVESTOR'S BOND

THE London Life takes pleasure in announcing an important extension of its service. It has perfected and offers a new plan to monthly investors --- an investment as secure as the London Life's financial position itself --- the Monthly Investor's Bond.

It is designed for men and women who can save regularly --- at least $25.00 a month --- and will appeal both to those who cannot afford to "take chances," and to those who want to have a guaranteed minimum income to fall back upon for retirement in case their other ventures should fail them.

Annual dividends on the London Life's high scale make this an exceptionally attractive investment.

Furthermore, the Monthly Investor's Bond can be insured, so that in the event of your death before the Bond would ordinarily mature, it would become payable in full immediately to whomsoever you have directed.

If you have been waiting for some institution to offer an investment like this, get full particulars from any London Life representative or from your nearest Branch Office.

Three Brilliant Artists Receive Ovation Here

Victoria Musical Art Society Opens Season Auspiciously With Viola Wasterlain, Barbara Custance and Arthur Johnson at Shrine Hall

The three brilliant artists whom the Victoria Musical Art Society presented at the Shrine Hall last night for the opening concert of the season were received with a demonstrative enthusiasm which overwhelmingly endorsed the commendable judgment of those responsible for selecting and bringing the musicians here. Again and again the artists were recalled, the delightful encore furnished in the course of the evening in themselves constituting a very worthwhile little programme.

Three Brilliant Artists Receive Ovation Here

Victoria Musical Art Society Opens Season Auspiciously With Viola Wasterlain, Barbara Custance and Arthur Johnson at Shrine Hall

The three brilliant artists whom the Victoria Musical Art Society presented at the Shrine Hall last night for the opening concert of the season were received with a demonstrative enthusiasm which overwhelmingly endorsed the commendable judgment of those responsible for selecting and bringing the musicians here. Again and again the artists were recalled, the delightful encore furnished in the course of the evening in themselves constituting a very worthwhile little programme.

Cultured, versatile, and with generous technical equipment, each of the three gave much that was memorable to the programme. Viola Wasterlain, a gifted young violinist, opened the programme, and in turn thereafter were introduced Arthur Johnson, a tenor, and Barbara Custance, a brilliant young Canadian concert pianist.

A VIRTUOSO
Miss Wasterlain, in the course of the recital, revealed herself as a virtuoso of outstanding capacity, giving a dazzling display of bow and finger work. Her resources were less apparent in her first number, the Correll-Thompson "La Folia," in four movements, than in her subsequent work. The exceptional nature of her equipment was marvelously apparent in the "Spinning Song," taken at a dazzling tempo and showing an absolutely uncanny deftness in the left hand; and in the brilliantly-played Mozart-Kreisler "Rondo."

The first of these were given as an encore, and two other especially beautiful numbers were also encores, the Spaulding arrangement of Brahms' "Cradle Song," revealing an appealing and very individual quality of tone, and the arrangement of the old German song, "For-eh-saken," where the loveliness of her legato was shown. Mrs. Karl Weiss showed great skill in accompanying.

TECHNICAL MASTERY
Barbara Custance, the pianist, has apparently completely mastered the technique of her instrument, and has, in addition, fine interpretative insight associated with an unusually fine musical intelligence. This is an impressive, vital and energetic quality behind her playing which gives a very individual character to the tempo. The allegro movement of the Beethoven sonata, for instance, had considerably more verve and fire than is usually noticed. In the adagio she employed a distinctive and beautiful spacing and phrasing which tended to enhance the majesty of the effect, and the allegretto was distinguished by grace, clarity and brilliant fluency of style. The brilliant little number which she added as an encore had a pleasingly capricious quality. As an encore she positively dazzled performance of Paderewski's "Theme Variations," with its cleverly alternating emphasis of bass and treble, she played "Le Chopin Waltz in E Flat," showing imagination and fire.

LOVELY DICTION
Arthur Johnson's delightful diction is one of the rarer merits of his singing. His tenor is of a sweet lyrical quality, and his voice is always with great good taste, spontaneity and fine expression. He shows great resourcefulness in singing the dramatic type of song such as Rachmaninoff's beautiful "Song of Grusha," the aria from Puccini's "Tosca," and the splendidly climaxed Coleridge-Taylor "Eleanore," and Van Dyke's "No member" (the latter as an encore).

Tenderly beautiful and expressive were "Have You Seen but a White Lily Grow?" the most perfectly suited thing on his programme for his choice; the spontaneously enthusiastic and youthful "To Anthea," and Maconi's charming "La Reue." There were several other delightful encores, the cowboy song, "Texas," being a prime favorite. With his singing sense of music, May Van Dyke proved a most artistically intuitive accompanist.

DISMISSAL OF MEN PROTESTED

Complaints against the discharge of employees who have long been on the strike of the city will be sent to the city council by the Trades and Labor Council.

This action was decided upon at last night's meeting of the council, when members of the labor council protested against the recent action of the council in dismissing eleven men employed in the paving plant and men who were employed on boulevard work.

It was contended by some that the dismissal was carried out to deny men of long service a right to secure superannuation.

NEWARK WINS 5TH GAME OF BALL SERIES

Bears Troupe Millers, 12-9, to Take Game Lead in Junior Playoffs

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 5 (AP).—Coming from behind in the last three innings, Newark Bears today defeated the Minneapolis Millers 12 to 9 in the fifth game of the little world series, which was finished under protest by the American Association champions.

The first half of the ninth was turned into a verbal battle when the Bears, led by Manager Al Mamaux, protested Empire Carrolls' decision to rule the on-field fly to Rice. Saltsgruber, who had walked, and went to third on Hargreaves' single, scored on the play.

The Bears claimed Rice dropped the ball after falling to the ground following a sensational catch.

REVERSE DECISION
Following a lengthy debate the umpire reversed his decision, and the Millers continued play under protest with two out. Rice and Manager Bush were banished from the game because of the vigor with which they objected to the final ruling.

Rolle, the first man to face Van Gilder after the debate, connected with a homer, scoring Hargreaves and Neim, to make the score 12 to 8 as the Millers came to bat in the last half of the ninth.

The Millers scored one run in the ninth on singles by Smith and Van Gilder and a base on balls given to Gansel.

Smoke Explained.—Smoke-filled skies which yesterday kept Victoria out of its place in the sun were said by Provincial forestry officials to be due to two sources of fires, including heavy blazes in the United States side of the border and a general process of land clearing in Vancouver Island and Mainland areas. This is the open season for clearing operations on private lands. In some cases minor fires caused momentary alarm, but no blazes of dangerous proportions were reported to headquarters offices during the day.

Problem of Nationality Discussed

GENEVA, Oct. 5 (CP).—Women of all nationalities flocked to hear the deliberations of the first committee of the League Assembly today when it discussed the difficulties surrounding the nationality of women marrying citizens of other countries.

Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State in the Canadian Government and one of Canada's delegates to the League, delivered a lengthy dissertation on the laws and conditions in Canada relative to this problem. He declared the women of Canada heartily welcomed the Hague convention on citizenship and married women.

"Canada has gone a long way in removing the disabilities associated with women in public matters, and I urge the committee not to oppose the convention, which was the first step in progressive evolution in the matter," said Mr. Cahan. It seemed to him, those who signed the convention were morally bound to submit it to their Parliaments for discussion.

Capt. R. A. Eden, British Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, also urged the committee to accept the Hague convention as the best that could be obtained. He gave assurance the British Government would ratify the convention. The discussion was adjourned.

Esquimalt Wedding Is Attractive

St. Paul's Garrison Church, Esquimalt, was the scene of a pretty wedding last night at 8.30 o'clock, when Rev. F. C. Chapman officiated at the marriage of Alden Kathleen, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hale 93; Old Esquimalt Road, and Mr. William Temple Rutherford, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rutherford, Esquimalt Road. The wedding marches were played by the organist, Mr. A. P. Bassett, and during the service the hymn, "Lead Us, Heavenly Father, Lead Us" was sung.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was a picture of girlish loveliness in her imported model frock of parchment net. The sleeveless gown was composed of graduated tucks, edged with Valenciennes lace, the high waistline being defined with a braided silk girdle. With this was worn a coat of net and lace. Her veil of silk net fell from a cap of Chantilly lace, held to the head with a circlet of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lily of the valley.

MATRON OF HONOR

Mrs. C. E. Pitman acted as matron of honor to her sister in a coat of frock of larkspur blue silk lace and a Molneux model hat of Majorca blue fur felt, with touches of coral. Matching shoes completed this charming ensemble. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses, snapdragons and violets. Mr. J. La Verne Le Huquet supported the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony at "Avalonmore," the home of the bride's parents, where Autumn flowers and Virginia creeper were artistically arranged throughout the rooms. Mrs. Hale welcomed the guests in a gown of black lace and georgette, and a black hat trimmed with grey, assisted by Mrs. Rutherford, Sr., in a smart robe of navy blue crepe and a matching model hat. Both wore corsage bouquets.

MOTOR TO PORTLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford left later on a motor trip to Portland, Oregon, the bride traveling in a truck of wine-colored silk crepe with touches of beige, a handsome fur coat and a model hat of wine felt. On their return they will make their home at 330 Northcott Avenue.

Among the many and beautiful gifts received by the young couple were a fireside bench and taffeta cushion to match from the staff of Angus Campbell & Co., Ltd., the bride having been a popular member of the office branch of the firm.

Vitamin C in These

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe)

ORANGE Cup Cakes.—Two cups pastry flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two tablespoons butter, one cup sugar, one egg, one cup orange juice, one tablespoon orange rind. Sift dry ingredients together. Cream butter, add sugar and continue creaming until well mixed. Add the unbeaten egg and beat vigorously until the mixture is very light and creamy. Sift in a small quantity of flour. Mix thoroughly. Add one-third the orange juice and beat until well mixed. Continue alternating orange juice and dry ingredients until all have been added. Stir in vanilla and orange rind and blend thoroughly. Pour into small, well-greased muffin tins and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit, about twenty-five minutes. When cool, spread the tops with orange marmalade and cover with grated coconut.

Silver Tea To Benefit Youngsters

In aid of the children's relief fund, the Junior Circle of the Willing Workers of the King's Daughters held an enjoyable silver tea yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. H. Hardie, 2164 Oak Bay Avenue. The affair was opened by Mrs. Kathleen Agnew, who spoke of the inception of the King's Daughters, and why she became a member. She was presented with a shower bouquet of pink carnations by little Joyce Clearhugh. Miss Ethelaine Clearhugh, leader of the circle, arranged a splendid programme which included several pianoforte numbers by Miss Edith Pretty and two pupils of Miss Violet Powkies, Mary Doherty and Lois Russell, in ice dancing accompanied at the piano by Mrs. George Russell. The reception-room and tea table were beautifully decorated with pink and mauve Michmas daisies by Miss Kathleen Roberts, the tea table being centred with a bowl of purple and mauve cosmos and petunias. Presiding at the tea urns were Mrs. James Stewart and Mrs. R. A. Playfair, while Misses Mary Cliff, Edith Pretty, Joyce Goggin, Doreen Maynard and Doreen Beare assisted in serving the guests.

On sale during the afternoon was a stall of work under the supervision of Mrs. Audrey Beare. Miss Alma Hoare was in receipt of customers.

FANCIFUL FABLES

"I don't doubt that you're a cop, but that uniform and cap don't convince me enough to go along with you. The boy that arrests me has to wear a . . . (Kindly draw straight lines between the numbers.)"

How kind some people are! Knowing we wanted to visit a certain small bay where we have had innumerable happy days in the past, our friends of the "Blue Brigade" came to invite us, Rover and his sidekick, to spend a whole day at Deep Cove once more. So, we went, and did we have an exhilarating day? We did! We did what we thought out there, about "chains." Now we would tell you what we thought of ships that come home with the incoming of the tide and of some good fellows we met.

If the Saanich Peninsula is lovely in the Spring; if it is most inviting in the Summer days, it is just twice as charming in the Fall, for there is a wealth of golden yellow in the woods, and the red berries of the arbutus make one's mouth water, and the peeled pomegranate-like seeds of the dogwood raise a lump in the throat with their rich red luxuriance and infinite variety.

HIGH TIDE, LOW TIDE. Some will tell us that there is the best fishing at low tide. Others say that high tide is still better for catching a mess of fish. But, many declare, that "twist tides" is the time to go a-fishing.

We, not being experts, cannot decide which class of anglers is right. But, this we know, all stages of ebb and flow and slack water find us ready to strike at the bait of a whole day on the waters of Deep Cove, or on the banks of the tree-covered points that run out to the sea. We love it all, be the tide in or out, or "twist and between." We have never spent anything but a most happy time at Deep Cove.

High tide, however, pleases us most of all, for then it is far easier to land from our little boat at the tiny miniature bay that just holds our little craft, and we, being lazy and rotund, have less trouble climb-

WELL-KNOWN FIRM CHANGES OFFICE TO NEW LOCATION

For some time past the Vancouver Island Realty Company, with offices at 1229 Broad Street, has felt the demand for larger premises from which to conduct their rapidly-expanding business. Today they announce their removal to 303 Kresge Building, on the corner of Fort and Douglas Streets. Together with this move comes a change of management, N. W. "Bob" Robinson assuming control.

The business will be carried on largely featuring real estate, together with all classes of property and fire insurance. Prominent among the lines represented are the British General Insurance Co. of London, England, and the Phoenix Insurance Company, of Paris.

Her car had broken down on the road opposite a field where a farmer was plowing with a four-horse team. The farmer came over and offered to pull the car to the nearest garage with his team. "I appreciate your kind offer more than I can tell you," the lady in distress told the farmer, "but, unfortunately, you would need twelve more horses. You see, my car has a sixteen-horsepower motor."

"Cornered" Is New Western Thriller

When men were men and a six-gun was your driver's licence, friendship was a bond of steel and integrity that stood the test of separation and the rigors of a life filled with gun-play. If a man was your friend, he was your friend for life, despite anything. That is the theme of "Cornered," which stars Tim McCoy at the Columbia Theatre. Noah Berry, Raymond Hatton and Shirley Grey are others in the cast.

Tim's deep affection for his closest pal rises in conflict with his duty as an officer of the law when his friend is caught with a gun smoking in his hand over the body of a dead rancher. But despite the almost conclusive evidence of his friend's guilt, Tim refuses to believe in the murderer's escape, and he is disgraced as sheriff in his own town, and leaves for a border town to follow the exciting trail of the real murderer.

Also on the same bill is Warren William in "Dark Horse."

"HE KNEW WOMEN" IS PLAYHOUSE FEATURE

Two veteran screen players share honors with the newcomers in "He Knew Women," Radio Pictures' all-talking comedy drama which opens today at the Playhouse Theatre.

In the second feature picture, a sophisticated leading man and an outstanding motion picture favorite, plays opposite Alice Joyce, long known for her part in "The Great Dictator." The grim struggle of the now-famous expedition are vividly portrayed in the film that was "shot" at a height thousands of feet in the air. The terrible fate that took toll of the heroic little party is one that threatened the camera man as he recorded incident and scenery never before recorded on the silver screen.

DOMINION George Meeker has varied his career by producing plays, having been the owner of the Players' Guild in Easton, for a year, and part owner of the Players' Guild in Milwaukee for three years. Several years ago he joined forces with his brother to produce "Alroy" at the Princess Theatre in New York City. Meeker is now appearing on the screen of the Dominion Theatre in "Back Street," the Universal screen version of Fannie Hurst's widely-read novel, with Irene Dunne and John Boles in the featured roles.

ROMANO OFFERS "SUNSET TRAIL"

Another thrilling Western drama, this time with popular Ken Maynard, is offered by Romano Theatre. It is the "Tiffany Productions" feature, "Sunset Trail."

In this one Ken rides to the aid of a beautiful girl who is being persecuted by a rascally banker-crook who has resorted to foul methods to gain possession of her valuable cattle ranch. His band of rustlers shoot or drive off every cowhand in an endeavor to force the girl to sell.

Who him in the cast are Buddy Hunter as the boy, Ruth Hiatt as the pretty ranch owner, Frank Rice as the lovable "Taterbug," with Philo McCullough as the rascally banker. B. Reeves Eason directed.

"MOVIE CRAZY" STARS VETERAN COMEDIAN

Even with the output of novels, short stories and plays larger now than ever before, the history of literature, making hunting ground for producers in search of picture material, it is all valuable as far as Harold Lloyd is concerned. He can use nothing but original stories written especially for him.

Most of his stories are built around an idea or humor that has which is developed into a full-length picture. An example of this is "Movie Crazy," with Constance Tamm, coming Saturday to the Dominion Theatre, in which the famous comedian will celebrate his first screen appearance in two years.

"HOLLYWOOD SPEAKS" COMING TO EMPIRE

As a result of her work in "Hollywood Speaks," Columbia picture of the rise and fall of an "extra" girl, coming to the Empire Theatre on Friday, Columbia Pictures have assigned Genevieve Tobin to contract for six pictures during the next two years.

The former Broadway stage star, who scored such a sensational success in Maurice Chevalier's "One Hour With You," began her Broadway stage career as the star of "Polly Preferred." Other stage hits in which she appeared were "Little Old New York," "Fifty Million Frenchmen" and "Sweetheart Time" and for a year on the London stage in "The Trial of Mary Dugan."

Winter Schedule Of Round Table Club Commenced

The Winter season of meetings of the Round Table Club opened at the Empress Hotel, Tuesday night, when a large attendance of members gathered for the initial gathering.

Alderman W. T. Straith, president, was the chairman and welcomed the members back after the Summer vacation.

He made reference to several club outings held during the Summer, stating that pictures taken on these occasions would be shown. Dr. D. W. Graham and Major M. Kirkpatrick Crockett showed a number of slides and moving pictures, which recalled pleasant and humorous reminiscences of the holidays.

During the evening plans for the future were discussed and a tentative programme was announced, which included a lecture series.

UNDERWRITERS HONOR MEMBER

J. George Elliott Made Life
Associate of Local Organization

J. George Elliott, Victoria's oldest fire insurance agent, was honored yesterday at a meeting of the Victoria and District Fire Insurance Agents' Association, when a life membership was conferred upon him for his work in the insurance business.

Mr. Elliott commenced insurance business in this city in 1880, when he was appointed inspector to the Vancouver Island Underwriters' Association, which, at that time, was not affiliated with a provincial organization. He was also first secretary of that body.

After holding the post of inspector for fifteen years, Mr. Elliott went into business for himself, taking over an agency in 1905. For twenty-six years he was agent for Atlas Insurance Company, and has now taken over the agency for the Pioneer Insurance Company of Canada.

Mr. Elliott has always been an active worker among fire insurance underwriters' organizations of this city and stands high in the esteem of his fellow agents. The honor was conferred upon him by D. W. Campbell, who referred to the pleasure it afforded him to award a life membership to one who had done so much for the underwriters.

TO TURN YOUR HEAD

"He was a charming person until success turned his head."

"We are all familiar with this phrase 'turning one's head' to signify the change which makes one vain and conceited, depriving one of balance and a true sense of values."

This may have the snap and tang of a modern expression, but it is over two hundred years old. We find its origin in one of the papers, number 201, of that famous English periodical, Addison's "Spectator." It dates 1712.
